IS NAME OF NEW JUDGE IN INDIANA

ON DEC. 19 CONGRESS ADJOURN TILL JANUARY 6.

A TILT IN THE U. S. SENATE

Rivals McLaren and Hilman Exchange Compliments Tariff Measure—The doings of Congress.

Washington, Dec. 10.—At the close of the Cabinet meeting today, Attorney General Knox announced that the President had decided upon the appointment of Francis E. Baker, to fill the vacancy in the Federal Judgeship in Indiana.

Washington, Dec. 10.—House was called to order at noon today. The report of the Isthmian canal committee was received and referred to the committee on interstate and foreign commerce. Mr. Payne moved that when the House adjourn, it adjourn to meet on Friday. This motion was passed after which Payne introduced a resolution that when Congress adjourn Thursday Dec. 19, it stand adjourned until January 6. It was passed almost unanimously.

Washington, Dec. 10.—Republican members of the House ways and means committee have agreed on the Philippine tariff bill introduced today by Chairman Payne. It establishes the Dingley tariff on goods coming here from the Philippines but also the Taft commission duties so collected shall be held as a separate fund and paid into the treasury of the Philippines to be used and expended for the government and benefit of said islands.

Washington, Dec. 10.—Nomination was sent to the Senate by the President today of Charles H. Darling of Vermont, to be Assistant Secretary of the Navy, vice Frank W. Hackett, resigned.

Washington, Dec. 10.—Proceedings in the senate were considerably enlivened by a verbal set-to between the statesmen from South Carolina. Senator Tillman challenged his colleague, Senator McLaurin, to resign with him on the spot, in order, to use his own language, that they might be able "to wash their dirty linen at home." Mr. McLaurin did not take up the gage. The incident was the direct sequel of the very bitter controversy which arose between the senators in South Carolina last spring. Mr. McLaurin arose to a question of personal privilege and proceeded to explain what he characterized as a "conspiracy to discredit him in his own state for views which did not meet the approval of the Democratic leaders. He declared that he was being humiliated, and according to public prints was to be excluded from the Democratic caucus because he had acted upon certain interests. He announced himself a believer in the old Democracy, and after denouncing the new Democracy leaders who, he said, had brought destruction upon the party, declared that he could not be driven from his old allegiance into a party with which he did not care to affiliate. Senator Jones, chairman of the Democratic national committee, denied that he had any "ulterior motives" in not inviting Mr. McLaurin to enter the caucus. Mr. Hoar took occasion to express the opinion that it was very doubtful whether both of the South Carolina seats in the senate were not in reality vacant. He contended that when the resignations were offered last spring to the governor they could not be withdrawn thereafter.

The senate in executive session took up the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. Senator Hoar ordered a bill giving the United States jurisdiction in cases of lynching and making the crime of participation in lynchings punishable by death. Another by Mr. Hoar requests the president to enter into negotiations with civilized powers for an island to which shall be banished anarchists and their followers.

Other measures introduced were: Defining conspiracy in restraint of trade; authorizing the use of $100,000 of the unclaimed funds of the Freedmen's bureau for the establishment of a home for aged and infirm colored people; to prohibit Chinese immigration; authorizing the construction of a railway across Alaska by private companies.

SHIP SUBSIDY.

Provisions of the Measure Fathered by Senator Frye.

Washington, Dec. 10.—The new ship subsidy bill was launched in the senate by Mr. Frye (Me.). It differs in form from the subsidy bill of the past two sessions and is divided into four titles and 15 sections. The sections which appear under the title "Ocean mailsteamships" are devoted to amendments to the ocean mail act of 1891. The postmaster general is required to consider the national defense and the maritime interests of the United States, as well as postal interests, in providing for the transportation of American ocean mails. The present limit of ocean mail contracts, ten years, is increased to fifteen years. The Frye bill provides seven distinct classes, with a rate of $6 to 20-knot steamers.

The second title, "General subsidy," contains the general subsidy for all vessels, steam or sail, which are not under mail contracts. This general subsidy is uniform, 1 cent per gross ton 100 nautical miles for not exceeding 16 entries in one year. To promote the building of new ocean vessels an additional allowance of 1 1/4 cents per gross ton is made for five years. A vessel to receive the general subsidy must carry mails if required, and must train in seamanship or engineering one American youth for each 1,000 tons, the vessel to be at the service of the government if required for defense. Any vessel to receive subsidy must be class A 1, and at least one-fourth of the crew must be American. The bill provides an annual bounty of $2 a ton for deep-sea fishing vessels and of $1 a month for American citizens when engaged in deep-sea fisheries; that a vessel shall receive only one form of subsidy, and that a vessel which has received a subsidy shall not be sold to a foreigner, except by consent of the secretary of the treasury. The bill does not provide for American registry for foreign ships owned by Americans.

Nine members of the second generation and 45 of the third generation were in attendance.

FACTIONAL WAR HOT AT COLUMBUS

Rumor of Candidate Against Foraker For United States Senator.

The Hanna Slate Completed and Forces Organize to Down the Whole Foraker Crowd—Gov. Nash not Happy Over the Contest to Control the Legislature.

Columbus, Dec. 10.—A rumor is in circulation here and gaining some credence that the hot fight for the control of the legislature will result in opposition to Senator Foraker for re-election. It is said that lines are being laid to pit ex-Lieutenant Governor John A. Caldwell of Cincinnati against Foraker. The plan is said to involve a coalition of Republicans and Democrats in both houses.

THE HANNA SLATE.

Columbus, Dec. 10.—The Hanna slate for the organization of the house has been announced and now all that is lacking to complete the full lineup of fifth factions is the announcement of the name of the Hanna candidate for president pro tem of the senate.

Last night word was received from Washington to the effect that the Hanna men were to rally to Judge Thomas of Huron for speaker of the house and Newton Miller of Delaware for clerk.

It is said that the reason why the Hanna men failed to take up McKinnon for speaker and McElroy for clerk is that George B. Cox of Cincinnati has promised to support the Hanna slate from top to bottom if the men were satisfactory and that he objected to both McKinon and McElroy, be-

SALOONISTS

OF MT. VERNON SENTENCED TO JAIL TODAY

Proprietors of Curtis House Included In the List of 15—Each is Fined $50.

Mt. Vernon, O., Dec. 10.—Judge Emmet M. Wickham of Delaware, sentenced fifteen saloon keepers of this city to ten days in jail and $50 fine each today for violation of the Sunday closing ordinance.

The order of the court has created much excitement in Mt. Vernon today as some of the men are the most prominent in the city. Among those affected by Judge Wickham's order are the proprietors of the Curtis House, the leading hotel of Mt. Vernon.

SENTENCED

FOR DANVILLE BANK ROBBERY BY JUDGE WICKHAM.

Dramatic Incident When the Court Recognized Wm. Fowles Whom He Had Before Sentenced.

Mt. Vernon, O., Dec. 10.—A dramatic scene was enacted in court Monday when William Fowles, one of the Danville bank robbers, arose to receive his sentence on a plea of guilty. Judge Wickham glanced at the prisoner, then became intensely interested, and leaning against the front of his bench, he looked searchingly at the man. Fowles winced.

"I have seen you before, Mr. Fowles," said the judge.

"You have, your honor."

"Where?"

"In Delaware, three years ago," stammered the prisoner, while every person in the big room strained to catch the import of the incident.

"You sentenced me to three years in the penitentiary for burglary, under the name of James Mason."

Judge Wickham looked at the man a moment and then said, "The example of that sentence seems to have been lost on you, and I am not inclined to be lenient with you. The judgement of this court is that you serve eight years in the Ohio penitentiary at hard labor."

Judge Wickham stated afterwards that he had not seen the man since he sentenced him in Delaware until he stood up in court Monday.

The four prisoners, William Fowles, Harry Gordon, Charles Smith and John Walker all changed their former plea of not guilty and entered pleas of guilty to burglary and larceny, the other charge of horse stealing, etc. being nollied.

NATIONAL

UNIVERSITY TO BE GIFT OF MR. CARNEGIE

WHO GIVES TEN MILLIONS TO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE.

THE GOVERNMENT AS TRUSTEE

Of the Magnificent Endowment—To Lead in Original Research—A Special Message to Congress.

Washington, Dec. 10.—President Roosevelt at today's cabinet meeting acquainted the members with the offer of Andrew Carnegie of $10,000,000 for a National University at Washington. The opinion was reached by the President and his advisers was that the leaders in Congress should be called into the discussion. On their decision will depend the acceptance of the gift.

Washington, Dec. 10.—President Roosevelt has received a letter from Andrew Carnegie in which the latter offers to make a donation of $10,000,000 to the United States. The letter will be referred to congress by the president in a special message. Mr. Carnegie's gift is for the purpose of establishing in Washington a university for higher education. He proposes that the university which he is to endow shall be the greatest institution in the world for the development of higher education. The proposed university will not interfere in the least with the educational institutions already established, but will supplement them, for, according to the present plan, its doors will be open only to those who desire to take up a post-graduate course. Mr. Carnegie also wants the new university to take the lead in original research, so that the United States can eventually stand side by side with Germany. If not excel that nation in scientific development. Mr. Carnegie's plan does not propose a national university in the sense that an appropriation will be asked or needed. The government is simply to be the trustee of the magnificent endowment.

PAPER MILL

NOW PRESENTS SCENE OF BUSY ACTIVITY.

Force of Hundred Men Soon to Be Employed Board of Trade's Proposition Accepted.

There was a scene of busy activity at the old paper mill plant Tuesday when an Advocate reporter called there. For the first time in several years smoke was issuing from the stack, the steam exhaust could be heard, and men were busy in all departments, getting things in readiness for the starting of the plant which will manufacture a high grade of straw paper.

The big vats are being cleaned, hundreds of bales of new straw are being hauled, and the entire place is full of life and energy.

When all is in readiness, which will be in a day or two, the manufacture of paper will commence.

There were 41 men at work Tuesday and Mr. W. H. Bachert who is in charge, is receiving applications for work which are placed on file.

The Board of Trades' proposition will be strictly adhered to, and the force of men will be greatly increased. The firm has orders which will keep the mill busy for an indefinite length of time, and the force of men will be increased to 100 or more.

Mr. Harry Smart formerly of this city, is employed by the new company.

The Board of Trade has given assurance that the bonus asked will be paid though the full amount is not yet subscribed and acting on that assurance the paper men are going ahead. The Board of Trade has been doing some soliciting within the past few days.

The rood bird is now on sale in the Chicago markets, and that there may be no "substitution" the dealers leave the tail feathers in the carcass, which is elsewhere nudged.

A steam plow weighing 36,000 pounds and owned in San Bernardino, Cal., is supposed to be the largest plow in the world.

MUST PAY

Supreme Court Announces an Important Decision in an Insurance Case Tuesday.

Columbus, O., Dec. 10.—The Supreme court by a decision today requires the Ohio Farmers' Insurance company to pay $1,500 to Whetworth Brothers of Cleveland for a fire loss. The company resisted payment because the premium had not been paid or the policy delivered at the time Whetworth's establishment burned, but the court holds that the agreement with the agent to take the policy as soon as made out bound the insurance company.

The Coshocton Board following Newark's example has raised a fund and will bring more industries to town. While Newark is growing and booming, Coshocton is not going to sleep.

British Government's Trouble About Reconcentration Camps in South Africa—Holland's Demand.

Bloemfontein, Dec. 10.—General De Wet is reported to be at the Vecht-kop farm, 12 miles from Heilbron with him. It is also said that a meeting of Boer commandants was held yesterday, among those attending being Generals DeWit, Steyn, Ross and Botha.

Some Boer women on a farm when interrogated by General Rimington gave information in regard to the meeting, which they said was held between Lindley and Heilbron. They added that the burgers intended to ask Steyn and DeWit for information in reference to intervention, and also as to the chances of Boer success.

London, Dec. 10.—It is reported that when parliament reassembles the British government will bring forward a new proposal in regard to the reconcentration camps in South Africa. It is believed that this proposal will suggest the distribution of the refugees in the settled districts.

According to a dispatch from Brussels to the "Standard," Holland has asked the powers to support her in a demand that the people in these camps be brought to Holland.

CASHIER

TRUSTED EMPLOYEE PERFORMS VANISHING ACT

INCIDENTALLY HE CARRIES OFF A HUNDRED THOUSAND

THE OFFICIALS ARE INDIGNANT

Los Angeles, Dec. 10.—With about $100,000 of his employers' money, H. J. Fleschman, cashier of the Farmers and Merchants' bank of this city, has vanished. He has not been seen since 9 o'clock Saturday morning. At that hour he was at his club. He notified the bank people that he was ill Saturday morning and would not be at his desk. Nothing was thought of the matter at the time. When Fleschman failed to report Monday his accounts were gone over and the shortage discovered. The exact amount has not yet been ascertained. Fleschman had been cashier and assistant cashier of the Farmers and Merchants' bank for many years. He began work for the bank when a boy, in 1875. He was under bond with a surety company for $30,000. In addition to this he had real estate and personal property in this city sufficient, in the opinion of Mr. Hellman, to protect the bank from the loss of a dollar. Fleschman married the daughter of A. J. Harrell, a wealthy cattle man of Visalia, but was divorced some time ago. He is 42 years of age, of medium build and smooth face.

The Farmers and Merchants' bank, of which J. W. Hellman is president, and H. W. Hellman is vice president, is the oldest and strongest bank in southern California. Its capital is $500,000, with surplus of $1,000 and deposits of $550,000. H. W. Hellman said: "Fleschman had no valid excuse for taking the money. He has property enough to realize the amount he has taken from the bank. He was always considered a man of fine habits and unimpeachable integrity. We are at a complete loss to account for his action."

Will Be Prosecuted.

San Francisco, Dec. 10.—I. W. Hellman, president of the Nevada bank of this city and holding a similar office in connection with the Farmers and Merchants' bank of Los Angeles, made the following statement regarding the defalcation of H. J. Fleschman, cashier of the Los Angeles bank: "The fact that we have been robbed of $100,000 cuts no figure. The bank will go on as usual, and will not be in the least handicapped by the loss of such a sum, which, while large, does not affect the capital of the concern at all. I am greatly aggrieved and disappointed in the man. He has been in our employ for over 20 years and of course was looked upon as one of the best men in our service, or he would not have had the position so long. I have made up my mind to prosecute him to the end, should he be captured."

CIGARMAKERS

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 10.—At the session of the American Federation of Labor there was a lively discussion on the floor over the question of boycotting machine-made cigars. The matter came up in the form of a resolution presented by President Gompers, John C. Deernell and Thomas F. Tracey of the cigarmakers' union, and was referred to the committee on labels. The committee reported the resolutions back with the recommendation that the word "machinery" be stricken out and the resolution adopted. The cigarmakers argued that cigars made by machinery are not as good as those made by hand, and that the machines drive hand cigarmakers out of the business. The speakers in opposition to the cigarmakers' proposition argued that to oppose machinery would be folly. The resolution, with the word "machinery" stricken out, was adopted as recommended.

Vernon, which the groom has just purchased. They have the best wishes of all their friends. Mrs. Clutter formerly lived in Newark.

The foul apparently was an accident, as Burns had a decided advantage when the fight was stopped.

McGuire Indicted.
Philadelphia, Dec. 10.—The grand jury returned an indictment against P. J. McGuire, general secretary-treasurer of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters, on the charge of embezzlement. Mr. McGuire is accused of fraudulently converting to his own use $10,000 belonging to the association.

Do YOUR CHILDREN ASK QUESTIONS?

Of course they do. It is their way of learning and it is your duty to answer. You may need a dictionary to aid you. It won't answer every question, but there are thousands to which it will give you true, clear and definite answers, not about words only, but about things, the sun, machinery, men, places, stories and the like. Then, too, the children can find their own answers. Some of our greatest men have ascribed their power to study of the dictionary.

CANCELED HIS VOW.

The "Yaller" Whiskered Man Induced to Take a Hand.

"No, gentlemen," replied the man with the yaller whiskers as he was asked to take a hand in a game of poker, "I beg you to excuse me. I'm not against card playing on principle, but five years ago I made a vow never to play again."

"For your mother's sake?" queried the glue factory traveler.

"Oh, no. My mother died many years ago. I was on a C., E. and Q. train one day, and we made up a game of poker. There were five of us, and I had never had such luck in my life. One of the players was from Montana, and he finally put up 200 acres of land against $200 in cash."

"And you won?"

"He had a full house, and yet I bluffed him on a pair of tens. It turned out that the land was a narrow strip of high mountain, and not worth a cent. It was an old mining claim, I believe."

"But where does the vow come in?"

"I will tell you. After holding that land three years I sold it to a Chicago stone syndicate, and men were put to work quarrying stone. A blast started an avalanche, and not only ten work men lost their lives, but a party of twenty-five emigrants were overwhelmed in the valley below. I was thus indirectly responsible for the death of thirty-five of my fellow creatures. Had I not won that land it would not have been sold for a quarry."

"Yes, we see," said the glue man.

"The other fellow would probably have used it for a toboggan slide."

"I believe that was his plan, sir."

"And if he had, the slide might have busted some day and fifty people been hurled into eternity."

"Do you think it possible?"

"Not only possible, but extremely probable. Yes, a hundred people might have been involved in the awful disaster. I figure it that you have saved the lives of about fifty people and are entitled to great credit."

"Do you really assure me?"

"We all do."

"Then, gentlemen, I will cancel my vow and take a hand in."

FACED DEATH

Mattoon, Ill., Dec. 10.—John Homighous, a prominent dentist of this city, died from the effects of a suicidal attempt made last Thursday. He had corresponded with his cousin, Miss Emma Homighous of Ohio, for 20 years, but feared that he was afflicted by temperament to wed her and that the $8,000 which he had saved was not enough money with which to face matrimony. Last week he received a letter from his sweetheart saying that if there was one ray of hope they would never part. Greatly agitated, Homighous confided his fears to a friend, adding sadly, "Love, long delayed, makes the heart sick." That night he chloroformed himself and turned on the gas. He left a will bequeathing to his sweetheart $3,000.

Destructive Earthquake.
Washington, Dec. 10.—An account of a serious earthquake in Erzeroum, Turkey, Nov. 8 last, is contained in a dispatch just received at the state department from Vice Consul Ojalvo at Erzeroum. The shock brought down a shower of stones and plaster from roofs and walls, and the people were compelled to put up tents on the snow on the streets. Many houses were destroyed. 20 persons killed and 15 injured. In the evening the governor general sent two small tents for the use of Mr. Ojalvo and his family and servants. The vice consul says that the coldness of the nights compelled them to put up temporary huts to protect themselves against the inclemency of the weather. The damage to the United States consulate was considerable.

Boer Propositions.
Vermillion, S. D., Dec. 10.—Garret Dropper, president of the University of South Dakota, during a recent visit to Washington, "called" on President Roosevelt and submitted to him two propositions. The first was that the state department request the British government to transfer suffering Boer women and children from the interior of South Africa to the seacoast towns, where American organizations raising money by popular subscription can alleviate their sufferings. The second was that the government prevent the shipment of horses, hay and other munitions of war to South Africa. At the president's request, Mr. Dropper reduced his suggestions to writing and forwarded them to state department.

STORY

Hoboken, N. J., Dec. 10.—A verdict of accidental death from poisoning was rendered by the coroner's jury that investigated the death of little Emeline Dale, the child of Elizabeth Howe Dale. Ten witnesses were examined. The witness who cleared Mrs. Dale was Mr. Billings, a commercial traveler. He occupied a room adjoining Mrs. Dale's at the hotel the night the child died, and he related how he had heard moans and screams of a child in the next room. Shortly afterward he heard a woman's voice inquiring sleepily: "Emeline, what's the matter? Have you had a bad dream?" The child grew quiet. Soon afterward it began to scream again and the woman then seemed to get excited, and Billings heard her ask the child, "Did you eat any of those tablets?" The child finally said: "I ate some of that candy." The jury at once found that Emeline died after having accidentally eaten strychnine tablets.

TO IDENTIFY

ONE OF ROBBERS, MR. SEILER MAY GO TO WILMINGTON.

Coat Worn By One of the Gang of Five Had a Newark Trade Mark in It.

Last Friday morning a gang of masked burglars broke into the B. & O. railway station at Wilmington O., and after binding and gagging night operator Hall, blew the safe and secured $30 and a quantity of railway tickets. They then blew two safes at Langdon's elevator and secured $100, robbed several residences, stole four horses and buggies and escaped toward Cincinnati.

Five suspects are under arrest at Wilmington, and this morning Mr. Fred W. Seiler, of the Germania Hotel on South Second street was asked by B. & O. detective to go to Wilmington for the purpose of identifying at least one of the men.

This name was found to be that of one of the men under arrest. In one of their cells was found a marker which had been on his overcoat which read "Great Western, Newark, Ohio."

All five men had defaced all marks on their hats.

Took Poison With Dinner.

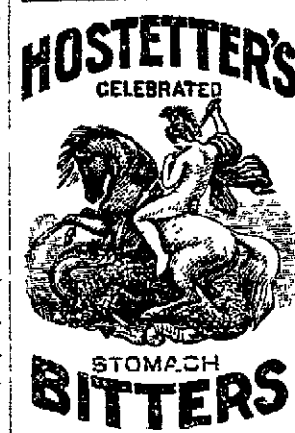

Findlay, O., Dec. 10.—While eating dinner with his family Monroe Trout, 45, took strychnine in whiskey, remarking at the time, "In two hours there's no telling where I'll be." The dose proved fatal. Financial difficulties are said to have been the cause.

Prominent Manufacturer.

Toledo, Dec. 10.—George H. Fisher, president of the Gendron Wheel company of this city, died suddenly of apoplexy. He was 55 years old, and leaves a widow and one son.

Massachusetts Elections.

Boston, Dec. 10.—Eighteen Massachusetts cities, including Boston, are holding elections, and all but one, Medford, will choose mayors. There are spirited contests in nearly every city, and in 13 the present legislatures are seeking re-election with more or less opposition. In Boston three candidates are pitted against Mayor Hart. The Democratic managers declare that General Patrick A. Collins, the party candidate, will be elected mayor by 7,000 plurality, while the Republicans seem confident of re-electing Mayor Hart by about 3,000.

The Bitters will cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, Flatulency, Nervousness and Malaria, Fever and Ague. It should be in every household. Be sure to get the genuine.

FEDERATION

OF CATHOLIC SOCIETIES MET AT CINCINNATI TODAY

Large Attendance of Delegates Who are Welcomed to Ohio The Day's Program.

Cincinnati, Dec. 10.—The American Federation of Catholic Societies convened here today. The official program included a parade headed by the Knights of St. John. The delegates were escorted by the local societies to the cathedral, where Bishop Horstman of Cleveland celebrated mass, with Father Quatman as master of ceremonies. Dr. Lavelle, pastor of the cathedral in New York, preached the opening sermon. Bishop Elder presided on the throne with Bishops McFaul, Messmer and Maas in the sanctuary. From the cathedral the delegates proceeded to the auditorium, where President Anthony Matre of the Cincinnati federation opened the convention and introduced Governor Nash, who delivered an address of welcome on the part of the state. Mayor Fleischmann welcomed the delegates on the part of the city and T. B. Minahan of Columbus, president of the Ohio federation, welcomed the delegates to his jurisdiction. President Fries of the federation then presented Judge Thomas W. Fitzgerald of New York, who responded to the addresses of welcome, after which the convention went into executive session. About 500 delegates are in attendance.

Down an Embankment.
Peru, Ind., Dec. 10.—A box car loaded with workmen, ahead of an engine of a construction train on the Cincinnati, Richmond and Muncie railway, jumped the track and rolled down a 15-foot embankment, resulting in the fatal injury of one man, serious injuries to two and minor injuries to 10 other occupants of the car. The men fell in a heap in one end of the car, a red-hot stove catching Perry Landers of North Judson beneath it and pinning him down until extricated by fellow workmen. He was horribly burned about the body and face and slight hopes are entertained for his recovery. Nevada Walters of Wabash, Ind., brakeman of the construction train, was thrown under the wheels and had both legs severed. Charles Peterson, Fremont, O., fractured his shoulder and ribs. His condition is serious. Thomas C. Laughton, Urbana, O., had both arms dislocated and face badly cut.

Walls Had Ear.
Circleville, O., Dec. 10.—Clarence Balthaser, a teacher of shorthand and bookkeeping in the business college here, was arrested on a charge of sending obscene literature through the mails to Miss Mabel Seelster, of the telephone exchange, a graduate of the business college. The letters were anonymous, but by using the recipient as a decoy postoffice inspectors located Balthaser, and claim to have overheard him in an adjoining room admit writing the letters.

Both Burned to Death.
Washington, Ind., Dec. 10.—Mrs. E. Clarke of Idon, this county, and her little granddaughter, were burned to death at their home here. The little girl was playing near a grate when her clothing caught fire. The grandmother heard the screams of the child, and running into the room picked the little one up and carried it out into the yard, attempting to extinguish the flames. The grandmother's clothing caught fire as she tried to fight off the flames enveloping the child and finally both were a mass of flames. Before assistance arrived their clothing and hair were burned off and their bodies were burned to a crisp.

To Protect the Prisoners.
Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 10.—County Judge J. D. Moore issued orders placing guards on duty at the county jail here for the better protection of the prisoners, Caleb Powers and Berry and Jim Howard. The order was the result of a controversy between the judge and County Jailer Lawrence over the taking of two of these prisoners from the jail recently to the jailer's residence to take dinner and meet some friends. The jail will be constantly guarded until after the January term of the Franklin circuit court, at which time Jim Howard is to be tried.

Reward for the Murderer.
Lexington, Ky., Dec. 10.—Pursuant to a call of the Fayette county bar, citizens held a mass meeting in the courthouse to take steps looking to the capture of the highwayman who murdered and robbed Merchant J. Reform in Beer Camps.
London, Dec. 10.—Lord Onslow, parliamentary secretary of the colonial office, while speaking at Crewe, announced that the concentration camps in South Africa had now been placed under the control of the civil authorities, that no pains or expense would be spared to place them in the healthiest possible condition, and that those concentration camps who wished to go to the coast would be free, permitted to do so. Lord Onslow added that the larger concentration camps were being broken up into smaller ones of from 2,000 to 3,000 persons each, and that if the government found matters did not improve in the future they would not hesitate to turn to the experience which has been gained in India in dealing with the plague.

Miners Attacked the Officers and Another Exchange of Shots Took Place—Three Shot.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 10.—Special Officer Frank Schofield, accompanied by Detective Casgrove, whose head was cut in Sunday night's riot, went to the scene of the disturbance to apprehend any one the detectives might be able to identify as having been among his assailants. They attempted to arrest a man in a saloon, but no sooner was the warrant shown than a crowd of miners attacked them with drills, clubs and bottles. They retreated backward, protecting themselves with drawn revolvers, when some one in the mob fired two shots. The officers and a nonunion motorist who accompanied them emptied their revolvers, thereby scattering the mob, and then ran. The men kept up a steady fire from places of concealment. Three members of the mob were shot, but their wounds are not serious.

Rheumatism

Omega Oil

A good doctor says that while people are using Omega Oil for Rheumatism, they ought to drink two or three glasses of water at night and two or three more glasses in the morning. The Oil goes in through the pores, destroys the acids which cause Rheumatism, and the blood carries the destroyed acid to the kidneys, where it is filtered out. By drinking plenty of water, the kidneys are well washed out, and in this manner the rheumatic poisons are removed from the system. You have probably noted that in all sickness the simplest treatments do the most good. Nothing is simpler than drinking pure water, and rubbing the body and muscles, and tendons, and joints with Omega Oil. 50c. a bottle.

AMUSEMENTS.

Tonight at the Auditorium Miss Lulu Glaser, formerly with Francis Wilson, will make her first appearance in Newark as a star. This clever little lady is well known to opera goers and "Dolly Varden" should and doubtless will play to a good house at the Auditorium tonight.

The story of "Dolly Varden, bielly told as follows: Jack Fairfax, an English country gentleman, is the legal guardian of Dolly Varden, a very pretty and very unsophisticated daughter of Fairfax's long time friend, a wealthy gentleman, who had died a short time before, leaving a large fortune in trust for his daughter.

Fairfax is a bachelor, and falls in love with his young ward, but his affections are not reciprocated in any marked degree. Fairfax's maiden sister, Letitia, who lives magnificently at Beaushamp Towers on the near London, is about to marry Lord Gayspark, a London top, who it transpires later, is seeking Letitia's hand for her money only, Fairfax announces to Dolly that they will go up to London to attend the wedding which the latter hails with a great deal of delight. Dolly, although a sweet, demure country flower, possesses the mettlesome spirit of her late father. Though the selfish foresight of her guardian, she has been very little of the world, but is anxious to see more. Fairfax knows that Dolly's rare beauty will create a sensation in London and it is with many misgivings, least he dose the idol of his heart, that he consents to take her with him. In London, Dolly's rare beauty does create a sensation. At the theatres, her guardian sees to it that she is not introduced to any marriageable gentlemen. Dick Belleville, a dashing young officer of the army, sits near Dolly, and falls desperately in love with her instantly. He resolves to marry her at any hazards, and through the assistance of Letitia, Dolly is disguised as a "midny" of the navy, escapes detection by Fairfax, and goes to meet Dick in the park. Letitia throws over Lord Gayspark for the manly Capt. Harcourt of H. M. S. "Dolphin." Then the bells of Beaushamp Towers ring out merrily for the double wedding. There are two acts in "Dolly Varden," and the period is 1730.

When "The Bonnie Brier Bush" was first presented in New York, everyone anticipated such a treat as would naturally result from the dramatization of Ian MacLaren's charming stories. However the play which James MacArthur has founded upon the narratives of the Rev. John Watson (Ian MacLaren) has proved one of the drollest and most laughable of comedies. Of course Mr. J. H. Stoddard's role as the typical Scotch elder, whose regard for his "kirk" takes precedence over his love for his daughter, is serious enough, but even this phase of the play is lightened by many deft and delightful touches of humor. The Scotch atmosphere so prevalent in Ian MacLaren's writings has been subtly preserved in the play. Among the characters from the book whom Mr. MacArthur has included in the piece are the tippling

"Posty" the old school doctor, "Weelum MacLure," the kirk minister "Mr. Carmichael," Campbell's daughter, Flora. That "The Bonnie Brier Bush" appeals equally to the discriminating theatre goer and the unlettered is attested by the fact that its run in New York was always characterized by a large gallery audience as well as enthusiastic spectators in the orchestra chairs and boxes. "The Bonnie Brier Bush" with Mr. Stoddard and his New York company will be seen at the Auditorium on Friday night December 13.

Missionary Meeting

At Plymouth Congregational church tomorrow afternoon and evening Dr. J. P. Jones and wife who have spent several years in India, as missionaries under the auspices of the American board for foreign missionaries, will speak in the afternoon at 3 o'clock and in the evening at 7.30. Since the great famine in India, the Christian people of the whole world have had a greater interest in these people. These missionaries will bring to us the story of suffering and ignorance fresh from the field. They will bring to us some thing of their own great interest in and enthusiasm for this work of our Master. All are cordially invited.

TRAIN DISPATCHING

Once I was a train dispatcher. I am not now and don't want to be. This is the reason:

One night the road was fairly hot with trains when I came on duty. I wondered how in thunder I should ever get the passenger train through without delay. There seemed to be a train on every sidetrack over the whole length of the road and more between stations. I worked like a beaver. It was in the old days of what are known as "single" orders, when each train received a separate order, which must be sent to each one concerned singly. You will easily see how in the rush of business a single order might be incorrectly transmitted and trains leave stations under conflicting orders, which would certainly bring them together unless corrected.

A double header left the foot of the mountain about midnight holding an order giving it the right to Summit. About thirty-five minutes ahead of it was a fast freight. The latter had an engine numbered 427, and the double train had engines 342 and 327.

Along toward morning a train was ready to go down the mountain, and I gave the order to "run wild" and wait for engine 427 at Summit. In some way or other the double train following slipped my memory completely. I have thought since I must have got mixed on the two numbers 427 and 327. At any rate, when the operator at Summit reported the two trains leaving it came over me with the suddenness and pain of a galvanic shock that I had given what we call a "lap" order.

The horrible feeling that seized me often makes me shudder when I think of it now. My hand fell from the key limp and nerveless. Something seemed to cast a blur before my eyes so I could not read the orders before me. The blood rushed to my head, and my temples beat like trip hammers. But only for a second. Like a flash I seized the key and asked the operator to stop the down train. It was too late. It had gone. Then I tried to reach the double train, but it, too, had passed the last telegraph office, and I knew no earthly power could prevent those trains from striking hard, for the grade is nearly twenty feet to the mile up there.

I sent for the chief dispatcher immediately and told him the situation. He was an old hand at the business, and an affair of this kind fretted his nerves almost to the point of insanity. He added nearly 100 per cent to my agony of mind. He would sit down and look the train sheet over and seem to devour the fatal orders with his eyes, then jump up with a gesture of despair and say, "By gosh, that's too bad!" Then he would pace up and down the floor, repeating to himself: "That's too bad, too bad. They'll strike as sure as the world," returning always to pore over the train sheet and order book. I could have screamed with the awful strain of nervous suspense. I confidently believe that nothing but lack of courage and the curious fascination kept me from rushing out and jumping into the river, seventy-five feet below.

I felt absolutely certain that some of those men would be killed. Had both trains been single the drivers might possibly see each other's headlights in time to jump, but I was sure the man on the second engine of the double header would go into the wreck all over and die as sure as fate. It has become fashionable nowadays to disbelieve in a physical hereafter. I don't know anything about that, but I do know that if mental torture be the lot of those who sin in this life, after our accounts are audited, I should prefer to take my chances with the old fashioned style of punishment.

Suddenly both relays opened with a snap. The chief looked at me with a perfectly indescribable expression and went to the switchboard without a word. We both knew without telling what it meant. The trains had struck, and the piled up wreckage had broken the wires down. We tested for the break and soon located it half way up the mountain. I gave up the last particle of hope at this and only waited in a kind of dull wonder to learn the extent of the casualty.

The thirty or forty minutes that elapsed after the wire failed until we got the official report of the accident seem to me now as misty as a dream. I guided away at the wire mechanically, worked only by the force of habit and using the circuits as they were made up by the chief. He kept fussing at the switchboard in a perfect misery of nervousness.

At length the Summit operator called, and my heart beat almost audibly as I answered him, for I knew from his tremulous sending that he had received the report. I think he must have understood my feelings, for the first words he telegraphed almost crazed me with gratification. Before sending a line of the formal report he told me, "There's nobody hurt." I gave up right then and there and said, "Mr. H., you'll have to take the rest of this report; I can't," and got up and went home.

It seems the engineer had seen the headlight and jumped, and the men on the first engine of the double header, after giving a sharp whistle for brakes, shrieked to the following crew to jump and kept on shrieking after they struck the ground and until the engine passed them. The warning was heard in time, and all hands got off with nothing worse than a few bruises. But that finished my train dispatching.

SERMON

Delivered at St. Francis de Sales Church by Rev. B. M. O'Boylan—

"What is Man?"

The sermon by the Rev. B. M. O'Boylan Sunday night at the St. Francis de Sales church was a masterly effort, and was listened to with the closest attention throughout. The Rev. Father took to his subject, "What is Man?" He considered man in the natural order under purely natural surroundings, and showed how far he could reach intellectually without the aid of Divine Revelation. The great philosophers, poets, orators, warriors and explorers were taken up as illustrations of genius before Christ. Many of their works and words could be properly used by the God-man, yet all that did not make the man as the Creator intended him. At most, he was still only a rational animal. (2) In the next place man was defined as a creature composed of body and soul, and made to the image and likeness of God. The body and soul were philosophically treated by the speaker, and after showing how these can be degraded by sex, the speaker took up the sin of impurity as the more debasing of all sins. He divided this part of his subject into three sections. The ravages of this vice in the family, next in society at large and lastly in the individual. As he entered deeply into the physical effects of this dreadful vice on every organ of the human body, the audience was as still as death. Avoiding the use of medical terms as far as possible he gave a terrible picture of the body as well as the soul ruined by this monster infirmity. Next he answered the original question, what is man? By defining him as a rational animal created by God in the image of his creator, and pursuing the end for which he was created, according to the laws laid down by God. He is a being composed of body and soul, made in the image and likeness of God, and using the means which God has appointed for his destined end. "To speak eloquently of God and His holy law does not make a Christian man, for the worst infidels, like Rousseau, have spoken such things concerning Christ; but to do the will of God in all things is to be a Christian in reality. Finally he held out the means to restore man to his lost position and chiefly and solely the grace of Christ, and the intercession of the immaculate Conception, whose feast they were celebrating. The picture drawn of the blessed Virgin, the Mother of the Redeemer, was a development of texts, drawn from the song of Solomon and the Apocrypha of St. John. Who is she that cometh up from the desert flowing with delights and learning on the arm of her beloved, beautiful as the moon, brilliant as the sun and terrible as an army in battle array?

Every one taking part in the sacred concert on Sunday evening is deserving of special mention, and indeed there was not a tame voice in the choir. Prof. Rafferty is surely a master of his art. The grand selections from Mozart were rendered with all the spirit of its great composer.

LUCIA'S ERROR

The sun had barely risen out of the sea when the sexton opened the doors of the pretty church of San Giacomo on the little island of Chioggia, where the Canal Grande separates from Venice. It was holy week, and the pious islanders gathered for early mass.

They were nearly all women, for the young and hardy men of Chioggia are out on the sea, saying their morning prayers under the dome of the sky. By the side of the wife of some poor fisherman kneels the judge's spouse in elegant attire. Not far from her sits the pilot's daughter. In the first pew before the image of the Madonna crouched on this morning in holy week a slender young woman of extraordinary beauty. She was oblivious of her surroundings. Her head was bowed over her folded hands, and from her eyes a tear trickled now and then. She did not see the old vegetable huckster perched on a stool the sexton had provided expressly for her because she could no longer kneel. Nobody heeded the girl except this old crane, who watched her curiously. The young woman's rich black hair betrayed her. It was Lucia, handsome, dark eyed Lucia, the old woman's cousin Enrichetta's only daughter. The silver bracelet around the dimpled wrist was hers. The old woman would have known her anywhere with that trinket on her arm.

Lucia seemed in great despair. Sora Biagia wondered. Could it be true, what the woman of Chioggia were saying, that Lucia was in love with the fair haired German painter who had employed her for his model? Had she been faithless to Filippo, who had asked her to marry him and whose wife she had promised to be? Now the Tedesco has gone his way, and she kneels in despair before the image of the Madonna—the old, old story!

Sora Biagia had always been fond of Lucia, and her heart ached for the sorrowing creature, but of late the girl had made no confidant of her old relative. When mass was over and the people dispersed, the old woman waited patiently for Lucia, who was still lost in devout prayer. At last she arose, brushed the wavy strands of her black hair from her forehead and cast a last inquiring look upon the image of the Madonna.

"Hey, Lucia!" cried Sora Biagia. "What will you have?" queried the girl, with low, oppressed voice. "I am sorry, Lucia mia," whispered Sora Biagia, laying her hand on the young woman's shoulder. "I wish I could help you. Don't take it too much to heart! If Filippo loves you, he'll come back to marry you, believe me, Lucia!"

"But he cannot, Sora Biagia," moaned the girl. "He cannot come back to me. Filippo is dead, drowned—and I am the cause of his death."

"Oh, holy Virgin!" murmured the old woman, crossing herself. "You do not know what you are talking about. You are losing your mind."

"It's true, only too true!" cried Lucia vehemently. "I will tell you all, Sora Biagia. Filippo was jealous of the stranger for whom I sat as a model. I was foolish to flirt with him, but I have never wronged Filippo, the holy Mother knows! It vexed me to have him so sure of me, and when he told me that he was the only man I could ever love I laughed at him. Then he came and asked me to marry him. But I was obstinate, Sora Biagia, and said that I would think about it. We had a quarrel and parted in anger, yet we love each other dearly. Filippo went to sea again, though it was his intention to remain at home after our marriage. Last night came the news that the Speranza was wrecked in the English channel. She was Filippo's boat, and everybody on board was lost. I am not weeping for the stranger, Sora Biagia, but for Filippo, whom I will never see again."

"Are you sure that all the crew were lost, Lucia? I saw old Sor Frediano, the pilot, standing in his door. He is sure to know. Hey, Sor Frediano, hey! Any news from the Speranza?"

"The Speranza's gone, but word has just been received that the crew was saved. They are on their way home now."

A cry of joy broke from Lucia's lips. Half laughing, half weeping, she sank upon the stone steps of the church.

"Thou hast heard my prayer, O Madonna! I have not sent him to his death."

On Easter morning there was great rejoicing on the pretty little island of Chioggia. The crew from the Speranza came home just as the Easter bells called the worshippers to church.

On the wharf, near enough for the water to dampen her pretty shoes, stood Lucia with Sora Biagia.

As the boat drew near that brought the young lover home the old woman asked:

"What will you say to Filippo should he ask you again to become his wife?"

"Not a single word, Sora Biagia. I will throw my arms around his neck and kiss him. He will know."

At Whitsuntide Filippo and Lucia were married before the image of the Madonna at whose shrine the girl had poured out her grief and implored her help.

THIS AND THAT.

Dora Monuce at Paterson, N. J., has filed suit for divorce against Jesse T. Monuce and this brings out a peculiar romance. In 1892 the couple were married. A short time later Monuce disappeared. A year ago word came from Cincinnati that he had been killed there in a railroad accident. Believing this, Mrs. Monuce last April married August L. Reese. The couple were starting on their honeymoon trip when at the depot the bride saw the husband she thought dead sitting in the waiting room. She and Reese parted and will remain apart until the divorce is secured. They will be remarried.

NOVEL PLAN

Proposed to Break Up the Habit of Expectoring in Street Cars Here it is.

The Newark and Granville street car company recently posted notices in each car calling attention to the Board of Health's recent ordinance against expectoration in the cars.

In this connection the following from Cleveland, O., will be of interest.

Health Officer Friedrich of this city, is trying to prevent spitting in the street cars. To further his purpose he suggests the following plan: Supply the conductors of the street cars with a bunch of yellow tickets bearing the inscription, "Spitting in the cars is positively forbidden."

Whenever a conductor detects a man in the act of expectorating he is expected to walk into the car, take off his hat, bow low, and hand the offender one of the yellow cards with the words: "Sir, permit me to present this card to you."
